

Evaluation

After two weeks, we have successfully mined 545,008 songs. However, of those, we were only able to create 919 audio fingerprints, as many of the songs fell under copyright laws. This is unfortunate because we were relying on those files for the music identification feature and for training the model that will identify the genre of unknown songs. It's unfortunate and will decrease the quality of the product's results; fortunately, it will be enough for a proof of concept.

Gathering of audio fingerprints to be continued...
